

French History Interpretation Intern

Wornall/Majors House Museums

Job Description

Our French History Research Intern is responsible for researching French history in Kansas City, with a specific focus on the nineteenth century and writing the script for a tour in both French and English relating to this history. This position reports to the Director of Programs of Wornall/Majors House Museums.

Primary responsibilities include:

- Research and summarize the history of French influences and settler in Kansas City, specifically in the nineteenth century.
- Incorporate how these influences may have intersected with the Wornall or Majors families, if possible.
- Create a tour script incorporating the above research in both French and English.
- Give tour in French to local French honor societies in November 2024.

Requirements for Indigenous History Interpretation Intern

- Attention to detail and ability to develop and execute short- and long-term plans.
- Robust communication skills and ability to clearly convey information and timelines to WMHM staff and volunteers.
- Ability to work both individually and as a team member.
- Strong research and writing skills, including ability to think critically and ascertain validity of historic sources.
- Proficiency in French, both written and spoken.

This role is ideal for a student majoring in history, French language, or museum studies.

About Working at the Wornall/Majors House Museums

The Wornall/Majors House Museums is a non-profit that preserves and protects two of Kansas City's most significant antebellum landmarks – the John Wornall House Museum and the Alexander Majors House Museum. The Museums engage the Kansas City community by bringing history to life through innovative, hands-on programs and experiences. The houses, both listed on the National Register of Historic Places, feature tours, field trips, summer camps, adult education programs, and more.

Our interns and volunteers will experience many facets of museum management, educational programming and non-profit administration. We value our interns and make sure they receive a learning experience that fits their career goals. Internships can be tailored to fit specific requirements for college credit.
